Dear Brian:

I wanted to commend and document your efforts regarding the Census Bureau with the landlord and tenant improvements.

As you know, the process was a difficult and complicated endeavor in which the GSA and the Census Bureau had strict and non-negotiable protocols for the development of the construction documents and the design drawings, as well as the bidding process, the implementation, inspection and finally the certificate of occupancy issued by the City of Watertown.

I am pleased to say that your men performed these tasks on time, in every circumstance and to the great satisfaction of the Census Bureau, GSA and myself. The process was time-consuming and complicated; frankly, your work speaks for itself. The GSA and the Census Bureau are thrilled with the leased space and we came in on-time, on budget and ahead of a great many other projects they were working on at the same time. The people were good to work with, Jason was very knowledgeable and got things done which is easier said than done in this business. In addition, I greatly appreciate your willingness to do things that were missed and not included in the original scope of work due to circumstances outside of anyone's control.

I do not believe that any of the other contractors that I have used in the past several years would have been capable of completing this task in a satisfactory manner. Thusly, I will be looking to Onsite to perform any future jobs that we have to bid-out. Not only was it done in a professional manner but the pricing was right. I would highly recommend your company to anyone as the service is exemplary and the sleepless nights ended once I knew you guys were on the job.

We look forward to working with you on future projects both in Watertown and throughout Central New York. Thanks again for your assistance; speak with you soon.

Sincerely yours,

Longley Jones Management Corp.
